

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A retardation film mainly used in a liquid crystal display and a process for producing the retardation film are provided. By using the retardation film having a birefringence, a coloring phenomenon and gray scale inversion can be reduced and viewing angle characteristics of a TN liquid crystal display can be improved.

5